The Section of Psychology Internship Program was first accredited in 1958, and we are pleased to invite you to attend our 50th Anniversary Celebration!

On Friday October 3, 2008, we will be celebrating with a Grand Rounds lecture, half-day CE workshop, and celebratory dinner. We hope that you will join us for all of these events, to celebrate the program, re-connect with faculty, colleagues, and friends, and attend educational lectures.
This workshop will provide information on several areas of the practice of psychology in which ethical decision making can be particularly challenging: psychological testing, supervision, and consultation. Emphasis will be placed on presentation of both theory and real-world examples. Format will be primarily lecture with some discussion. This conference is designed for participants who already have a basic understanding of the principles outlined in the APA ethics code and Indiana State code.

Accreditation Information for the Ethics Workshop Only:
The Indiana University School of Medicine, Department of Psychiatry, Section of Psychology, is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. The Indiana University School of Medicine, Department of Psychiatry, maintains responsibility for this program and its content. 3.0 CE credits can be earned through this continuing education activity. In order to receive credit, full attendance is required per APA policy. No exceptions. Although it offers CE credits noted above, this activity is not intended to provide extensive training or certification in the field.

At the end of the program the participant will be able to:
- identify some of the more commonly encountered ethical issues in psychological testing;
- cite core principles that can be used to assist in ethical decision-making for psychological testing issues;
- identify several models of consultation; and
- identify ethical considerations related to each model of consultation.
